Deepak Chopra's definition of Consciousness:

Consciousness is pure potentiality. It has no beginning or end, no space or time. It has infinite organizing power, it makes quantum leaps of creativity, and it moves naturally in the direction of growth. The only way to have a direct experience of consciousness is through self-awareness, including your awareness of your thoughts, feelings, memories, sensations, and environment. When you look at the world “out there,” you are really experiencing it “in here,” in your consciousness.
